Each of the contributions has been prepared by high profile experts and strategically addresses countries that are representative for their corresponding area. Our understanding of the term "Cultural Heritage" has changed considerably over the past few decades, and it is becoming increasingly clear that the concept also includes traditions* and living expressions that we inherit from our ancestors and pass on to our descendants. UNESCO has recognised and responded to this change of perspective, creating through the 2003 Convention an international instrument for safeguarding the "Intangible Cultural Heritage", a notion including oral traditions, performing arts, social practices, rituals, festive events, knowledge and practices concerning nature and the universe, as well as the knowledge and skills needed to produce traditional crafts. New values, practices and heritages were recognized – from the ancient African rituals to the Mexican Mariachi musical expression to the Brazilian Samba and the Mediterranean Diet – all of which convey strong social and cultural meaning for their community's identity. Intangible Cultural Heritage is a growing, relatively recent field of study and also an emblem of the dialogue between distant populations with different cultures, which is the reason why a comparative approach is the most appropriate basis for conducting an analysis of how the contracting states to the Convention live up to their commitments through national safeguarding measures and enhancement policies or through international cooperation projects. Minutes of the Biennial Convention Proceedings ... Proceedings of the Annual Convention International Marine Organizations Essays on Structure and Activities Martinus Nijhoff Publishers In the last few years, the quantity of books and papers on the political, economic and legal problems of the exploration and use of the sea and marine resources has considerably increased. But the status and activities of international organizations related to maritime shipping, fisheries, scientific research in the World Ocean and the protection of the marine environment have not yet, as a whole, been represented in the scientific and reference literature. It would be fair, though, to mention that some general information on marine international organizations may be found in the Yearbook of International Organizations, Brussels, 1979; in Annotated Acronyms and Abbreviations of Marine Science Related International Organizations, U. S. Department of Commerce, 1976; and in the UN Annotated Directory of Intergovernmental Organizations Concerned with Ocean Affairs, 1976. Voluminous information on organizations engaged in problems of the exploration and use of the sea is given in International Marine Organizations by the well-known Polish scientists Lopuski and Symonides, 1978. Meanwhile the increasing volume of practical work related to the participation of governmental and scientific bodies as well as individual scientists and specialists in these organizations, the necessity of long-term planning in this field, and the perspectives of the development of these organizations, make necessary a special publication depicting the structure and many-sided activities of such international bodies. This book is the first one in which the most complete information on the main marine international organizations is presented. National Union Catalog A Cumulative Author List Representing Library of Congress Printed Cards and Titles Reported by Other American Libraries Includes entries for maps and atlases. TESOL Newsletter The Official ACT Prep Guide, 2016 - 2017 John Wiley & Sons "400 additional practice questions available online"--Cover. Asha A Journal of the American Speech-Language-Hearing Association Records of the Diplomatic Conference for the Revision of the Berne Convention WIPO These Records of the Diplomatic Conference for the Revision of the Berne Convention (Paris, 1971) contain all the official documents distributed before and during the Conference by the World Intellectual Property Organization (WIPO), either as organizer of the Conference or as Secretariat of the Conference. The California ELD Standards Companion Grades 3-5 Corwin Press For California teachers only!
