A Passion for the Impossible The Life of Liliias Trotter Discovery House Pub Art critic John Ruskin enthusiastically proclaimed her potential as one of the best artists of the nineteenth century, but Liliias Trotter's devotion to Christ compelled her to surrender her life of art, privilege, and leisure. Leaving the home of her wealthy parents for a humble dwelling in Algeria, Liliias defied stereotypes and taboos that should have deterred any European woman from ministering in a Muslim country. Yet she stayed for nearly forty years, befriending Algerian Muslims with her appreciation for literature and art and winning them to Christ through her life of love. Images of Faith Reflections Inspired by Liliias Trotter, Devotional Edition/Volumes 1 & 2 Images of Faith: Reflections Inspired by Liliias Trotter goes beyond the biographical facts of Liliias's life-Victorian-era artist, protege of John Ruskin, ground-breaking social worker, missionary to Algeria, inspirational author-to ponder the deeper meaning of her life. Some 60 devotional reflections start with a short Trotter quotation, often selected from unpublished diaries, and a full-color Trotter watercolor. Miriam Rockness-who as biographer has lived and breathed and absorbed the world and mind-set of Liliias for the past thirty years-then shares contemporary-life reflections that complement and match the spiritual insights of Lilias herself. This expanded (volumes 1 & 2) edition of Images of Faith is newly designed for easy devotional access and features additional content, opening vistas to Images of ...Joy, God, Redemption, Spiritual Growth, Prayer, Service, Refreshment, and Faith. A spirit-inspiring read for Lilias admirers and a compelling introduction for those who have not yet made her acquaintance. Here you'll find profound devotional reflections that bridge our "now" with Lilias Trotter's timeless art and classic spiritual insights. A Blossom in the Desert Reflections of Faith in the Art and Writings of Lilias Trotter "A Blossom in the Desert" showcases exquisite paintings and inspirational writings of Lilias Trotter from her many devotional books, journals, and letters. Parables of the Cross Simon and Schuster Isabella Lilias Trotter (1853-1928) was an artist and a missionary for over 38 years to the Muslims of Algeria. John Ruskin, the famous art critic, didn't believe that ladies could paint before he met Lilias. He changed his mind after he met her and believed that if she would give her life to painting she could become the greatest painter of the nineteenth century. Ruskin believed that if she would devote herself to art "she would be the greatest living painter and do things that would be immortal. " He was unhappy that she was spending so much time on the streets of London, helping with the YWCA, when he thought she ought to be painting. Lilias, however, decided to give up her career in art in order to serve God. She always remained a good friend of Ruskin's though, and they wrote many letters when she was in Algeria. She also wrote several books - beautifully illustrated by herself, including: Parables of the Cross (1894), Parables of the Christ-Life (1899), and a book for Sufi Muslims, The Way of the Sevenfold Secret. A Blossom in the Desert Reflections of Faith in the Art and Writings of Lilias Trotter Discovery House Pub Lilias Trotter spent forty years sharing the gospel of Christ with the Arab people of Algeria. During that time, she kept diaries and journals and wrote a body of devotional literature. As a gifted artist, she painted and sketched beautiful watercolors and drawings along with her personal and published writings. These images and writings document the inner as well as the outward events of her life. Francis Bacon wrote: "God has two textbooks-Scripture and Creation-we would do well to listen to both. Lilias listened to and observed both, leaving to us this rich legacy of faith in her art and writings. Lily The Girl Who Could See Images of Faith Reflections Inspired by Lilias Trotter A Way of Seeing The Inward and Outward Vision of Lilias Trotter 40 inspirational reflections exquisitely illustrated-for personal or group contemplation." During a visit to Venice in 1876, the mother of Lilias Trotter heard that John Ruskin, then fifty-seven, was in the city to work on drawings and to revise his book of 1851-53, The Stones of Venice. Carefully drafting a letter of introduction, she must have hoped that Lilias might receive some instruction in drawing or at least some general commendation from the foremost writer on art of his day. Probably she was expecting no more than that, although there would have been the obvious excitement of personal contact with one of the most famous people in the English-speaking world. Having given 'somewhat sulky permission,' Ruskin was surprised to see 'extremely rightminded and careful work,' and asked 'that the young lady might be allowed to come out sketching with me.' 'She seemed to learn everything the instant she was shown it,' he recalled, 'and ever so much more than she was taught.'"Stephen Wildman, Professor of History of Art, Lancaster University, Director, Ruskin Library and Research Centre

Fanny J. Crosby (1820-1915) was the most prolific of all American hymn writers. Having lost her sight in infancy through a doctor's negligence, Fanny went on to compose more than 9,000 hymns, as well as various other songs, cantatas, and lyrical productions. Crosby's hymns, including such all-time favorites as "Blessed Assurance," continue to be sung around the world. She was also involved with New York City's rescue missions and with other benevolent efforts. She rubbed shoulders with the likes of Henry Clay, Grover Cleveland, Winfield Scott, Dwight L. Moody, Ira Sankey, Jenny Lind, P. T. Barnum, and many other famous figures who people these pages. Drawing on primary sources, including thousands of unpublished manuscripts, Blumhofer sorts fact from fiction in the life of this remarkable nineteenth-century northeastern Protestant woman, in the process showing why "this diminutive woman" was so beloved.--From publisher description. A Guide to True Peace, Or, A Method of Attaining to Inward and Spiritual Prayer Repentance A Daring Call to Real Surrender CLC Publications Repentance begins at conversion—but doesn't stop there. It isn't penance, self-effort or condemnation, but an ongoing attitude for daily living in Christ, says Jack Miller. In this new edition Jack's widow, Rose Marie, adds an epilogue telling of Jack's own journey of living out repentance on a daily basis. Living the Christ Life CLC Publications If you're serious about serving Christ, you've probably noticed how difficult it is to be genuinely holy and fruitful. Living the Christ Life combines gems from classic authors like Amy Carmichael and Andrew Murray to create a practical daily devotional on living for Christ not in our strength, but in His. Facsimile Edition Scenes from Lucerne to Venice: Lilius Trotter's 1876 Sketchbook In October 1876, twenty-three-year-old Lilius began, with her mother, a trip to Venice, Italy. While in Lucerne, Lilius purchased a sketchbook in which she recorded the journey along the carriage roads to Venice--where she met the famed John Ruskin, Victorian England's arbiter of artistic taste and the author, no less, of The Stones of Venice, the definitive artistic and architectural history of the city. Ruskin, impressed by young Lilius's talent, took it upon himself to educate her untrained eye, escorting her through the Grand Canal to view paintings and architecture, providing instruction in art which would continue in England. This facsimile edition of the sketchbook she carried to Venice and, no doubt, on sketching trips with John Ruskin, reveals first her untrained artistic talent--the discovery of which Ruskin declared in his 1884 "Art of England" lecture to be "about the only thing that makes me content in having gone there." And it contains views of Venice most likely instructed by the master himself. Facsimile Edition Scenes from North Africa, Italy and Switzerland: Lilius Trotter's 1889 Sketchbook Lilius Trotter's 1889 Pocket Sketchbook captured views from North Africa and Europe one year after she left London to live in Algiers and minister to the Arab people. Most of the views were sketched during the month of June while taking a break from the scorching heat of a North African summer. Her ability to quickly capture views with accuracy and beauty was a skill that John Ruskin, eminent Victorian art critic, extolled in his 1884 "Art of England" lecture and demonstrated with specimens removed from her Norwegian Sketchbook: "...they are patterns to you therefore only of pocket-book work; but what skill is more precious to a traveller than that of minute, instantaneous, and unerring record of the things that are precisely best?" Her range of subjects and scenes that were at once "lovely and honorable" met the high standard that Ruskin, mentor/friend, set and valued: mountains and clouds, ships and seascapes, figures in regional garb and headdress, flowers and architectural details. The Full Blessing of Pentecost Your Greatest Need: The Spirit's Unlimited Supply CLC Publications We believe it, we preach it, we strive for it—but still for many, the kind of free-flowing life in the fullness of the Spirit is more dream-like than reality. A Passion for Prayer Experiencing Deeper Intimacy with God CLC Publications Of all the disciplines of the Christian life, prayer is perhaps the most neglected. Yet Jesus' brief earthly life was permeated with it. A Passion for Prayer seeks to help you develop—or deepen—your communion with God. Drawing on personal experience and God's Word, Pastor Tom Elliff shares principles for daily coming before the throne of grace. The Call of the Wild & White Fang Lorenz Books 'The Call of the Wild' is the story of Buck, a domestic dog stolen, sold as a sled dog and forced to endure the brutal work and competition with the other dogs to be leader of the pack. 'White Fang' presents a similar story but in reverse as a wild wolf-dog mix is domesticated but faces great cruelty before finding a master. A Path Through Suffering Discovering the Relationship Between God's Mercy and Our Pain Gospel Light Publications Must we stumble through sorrow and tragedy without understanding or is there a lighted way—a path-through suffering? Elisabeth Elliot plots the treacherous passage through pain, grief and loss a journey most of us will make many times in our life. Through it all, she says there is only one reliable path, and if you walk it, you will see the transformation of all your losses, heartbreaks and tragedies into something strong and purposeful. In this powerful moving book, Elisabeth Elliot does not hesitate to ask hard questions to examine tenderly the hurts we suffer and to explore boldly the nature of God whose sovereign care for us is so intimate and perfect that he confounds our finite understanding. "A Path through Suffering" is a book for anyone searching for faith, comfort and assurance. A Time to Play Reflections on Childhood and Creativity Taylor & Francis When You Love a Prodigal 90 Days of Grace for the Wilderness Baker Books Loving a prodigal is a long and desperate journey, filled with fear, worry, anger, self-recrimination. You wait for the phone call--will it be from jail or the hospital? You plead with your loved one. You search for help. You feel the shame. You cry out to God, "How long, Lord?" Author Judy Douglass knows these lovers of prodigals well. She is one herself and has created a large and growing community with others. When You Love a Prodigal is a collection of 90 essays--90 days of perspective on what God offers to you as you love your prodigal. At the end of each brief essay, response questions will help you process how God intends to use the wilderness journey to mold your spiritual life. You can work through it day by day, or you can read it straight through. Judy has traveled this road with her own prodigal--reading, learning, praying, and seeking God. Over and over he continued to give her wisdom, he sustained her, he covered her with grace, and he filled her with hope. May you, too, be strengthened and filled with hope as together you discover how God will take you through your own valley. A Pot of Oil Or the Anointed Life as Applied to Prayer, the Mental Faculties, the Affections and Christian Service (Classic Reprint) Forgotten Books

Excerpt from A Pot of Oil: Or the Anointed Life as Applied to Prayer, the Mental Faculties, the Affections and Christian Service I. 7716 servant of Lord in debt To be in debt is to be in bondage, and was never God's purpose, as applied either to money or to the spirit of obedience. Debt is the rod of Satan with which he scourges the children of men. Debt, dirt and the devil all belong together. The poor widow mentioned in this passage had been left by her husband with an old debt against the family, and although her husband was a preacher, one of the sons of the prophets, yet in his poverty had gone in debt to a rich, hard-hearted neighbor, and perhaps it had been increased by usury and now a crisis was reached, which wrung a pitiful cry from the heart of the widow and mother. In those days when the Holy Ghost had not been given as the universal Comforter, the prophet Elisha stood in many instances to fill the office of the Holy Spirit to God's people, and so this woman cried to Elisha as he was the special mouth-piece of God's will to the people. Here is a picture of multitudes of the Lord's people to-day they are servants of God, but by being in debt they are hampered financially, and spiritually, for debt wears heavily on the mind of an honest person who intends to pay it. It saddens the heart, destroys cheerfulness, weakens courage, brings a certain sense of degradation, and, as Scripture says, the borrower. Now the revision to the compact, perennial bestseller includes a provocative new concluding chapter depicting God asking a believer questions about his stewardship over material resources. Jesus spent more time talking about money and possessions than about heaven and hell combined. But too often we've overlooked or misunderstood his most profound teaching on this topic, from his words in Matthew 6. Jesus offers us life-changing investment advice. He actually wants us to store up treasures for ourselves—just not here on earth. Instead, he urges us to store our treasure in heaven, where they will await us, and last forever. We can't take it with us—but we can send it on ahead! Readers are moved from the realms of thoughtful Bible exposition into the highly personal arena of everyday life. Because when Jesus told His followers to “lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven,” He intended that they discover an astounding secret: how joyful giving brings God maximum glory and His children maximum pleasure. In The Treasure Principle, you'll unearth a radical teaching of Jesus—a secret wrapped up in giving. Once you discover this secret, life will never look the same. And you won't want it to be. “Supercharged with stunning, divine truth! Lightning struck over and over as I read it.” - John Piper, Senior Pastor, Bethlehem Baptist Church, Minneapolis
